

Hi,

You're receiving this email because you previously made a request for your personal data stored by Facebook and we promised to update you as additional data became available. We are now in the process of launching our second download tool with your expanded archive. It should be available within a week. You can find it in the same place as the original download tool, in your Account Settings.

Your expanded archive may include:

- Pending friend requests
- Your mobile telephone numbers
- Account status changes – if, for example, you deactivated and then reactivated your account
- Birthday visibility
- City and hometown info
- Data cookie info – cookie used for security purposes
- Events info
- Family members (listed by you or your family)
- IP addresses stored by Facebook
- Spoken languages
- Login info, including a list of the logins we have stored
- Logout info, including a list of IP addresses we've stored, from which you've clicked Log Out
- Poke info
- Previous names
- Relationship info

You may also use the main download your information tool, as well as your Wall or timeline and activity log to access your:

Comments on others' posts, photos

Posts on others' timelines or Walls

Others' posts on your timeline or Wall

Various apps' activity

Open graph activity – listened to a song, read an article, and so on

Status updates

Likes

Posts in groups

Posts on pages

Shared links, photos and other info

Added friends

To learn more about specific types of personal data that Facebook uses and how you can access your own data, please read on.

Personal Data Processed by Facebook

To learn more about your data on Facebook, please read the Data Use Policy (formerly called Privacy Policy): <https://www.facebook.com/about/privacy/>

This policy describes:

- Categories of data being processed by Facebook
- Personal data that Facebook receives from Facebook members
- Sources of this info, if known
- Reasons for processing this data
- Recipients or categories of recipients to whom Facebook members' personal data are or may be disclosed

Accessing Your Facebook Data – Active Account

To download your information or your expanded archive:

1. Click the V menu at the top right of any Facebook page.
2. Choose Account Settings.
3. Click "Download a copy of your Facebook data." To access the new categories of info, click "expanded archive."

To check to see whether your credit card information is stored on Facebook, go to Account Settings > Payment Methods. From there, you may choose to change or delete stored credit card information.

Please note that you'll be asked for your account password in order to start your download. Your downloaded file may contain sensitive information. You should keep your downloaded info secure and take precautions when storing, sending or uploading it.

You can also access personal data from your current profile (timeline) and activity log anytime. Just log into Facebook to edit this info. If you have trouble logging in to your account, please visit our Log In and Password help page:

<https://www.facebook.com/help/?page=174>

Accessing Your Personal Data – Without an Account

If you can't access your profile (timeline) or don't have an account, please follow the link below to complete a form and request your data:

https://www.facebook.com/help/contact_us.php?id=xxx

You may be required to provide additional information to authenticate your identity.

Murphy
User Operations
Facebook